Preserving and Advancing
California's Heritage Vineyards

Our Story

The Biale family has been dedicated to growing Zinfandel in Napa since the 1930s. Aldo Biale (1929-2009) as a boy used to bootleg his popular homemade Zinfandel around the town of Napa using the code name "Black Chicken." Today, Robert Biale Vineyards, founded in 1991, is a very highly regarded "House of Zinfandel" owned and operated by the longtime Biale and Pramuk families of Napa. It specializes in producing small lots of Zinfandel from the Biale ranch and winery in Napa's Oak Knoll District, as well as from many other rare, historic old vine vineyards in the Napa and Sonoma Valley appellations. Biale is also recognized for producing some of California's finest examples of another time-honored heritage variety: Petite Sirah.

In Our Vineyard(s) We Grow:

Zinfandel

Founding Partners Bob Biale (Grower) and Dave Pramuk (Marketer) who have been friends since grade school in Napa, have established a reputation for sophisticated, Burgundian method Zinfandels of uncommon beauty and balance that have a legion of devout followers and enrapture those who experience them for the first time. Lush, vibrant, and graceful, each Zinfandel is the fullest expression possible of its unique and historic site.
